First ILC Workshop

Towards an International Design of a Linear Collider, Nov.13-15, 2004, KEK

Participants at the First ILC Workshop (Nov.13, 2004)

Introduction

In August this year (2004), a recommendation was issued by the ITRP concerning the technology of choice for the main linacs of a TeV-scale electron-positron linear collider.

The recommendation was immediately endorsed at the joint ICFA/ILCSC meeting held in Beijing. Now, a large number of high-energy physicists, accelerator scientists and engineers are actively exploring the path towards rapid development of a conceptual design of ILC, a linear collider, to be realized through a world-collaboration.

With this background and context, KEK has decided to host the "First ILC Workshop", under the auspices of ICFA and ILCSC. The goal of this Workshop is to facilitate the world-wide formation of an international design team of a linear collider. This Workshop is expected to create an expert-oriented opportunity for in-depth and comprehensive discussions on design and development issues of a linear collider, which is to be based on the advanced superconducting RF technologies deployed in the main linacs.

Workshop dates

- November 13th (Saturday) through 15th (Monday), 2004.

2005 International Linear Collider Physics and Detector Workshop and Second ILC Accelerator Workshop Snowmass, Colorado, August 14-27, 2005

The American Linear Collider Physics Group (ALCPG) will host a two week workshop in Snowmass, Colorado, August 14-27, 2005.

In parallel, the International Linear Collider Steering Committee will sponsor the Second ILC accelerator workshop to address both accelerator and machine-detector interface issues.

A more detailed statement of purpose for these workshops can be found here:
